They shall include in their annual report an itemized account of their receipts and disbursements, a report of our various mission fields, and a statistical and comparative statement of the gifts of

IX. CHURCHES AND SESSIONS.

1. Churches which are not able to maintain a minister without receiving a large grant of aid, may (for the sake of economy and better pastoral service,) be grouped together by Presbytery under one charge, where geographical and other considerations permit. But such a group may not be dissolved except by consent of Presbytery, nor may a minister serving such a group sever his connection with one part of the group and continue with the other part, except by Presbytery's permission. Should any group lose its minister between the meetings of Presbytery, the churches composing it shall be under the care of the Home Mission Committee until a new minister is secured, or until Presbytery makes some other provision.

2 Sessions shall (1) promptly fill out and forward the statistical and narrative blanks furnished them by the Stated Clerk, and should enter the figures of the annual statistical report on their sessional records. They shall (2) report at each spring meeting to the Stated Clerk the names of their elders, and the changes which have occurred during the year, with dates. They shall (3) pay to the presbyterial treasurer, at or before each spring meeting, the assessment made by the Presbytery for current expense; and (4) present at that meeting their sessional records for examination.

3. Sessions should meet at least before every communion season, should open and close their sessions with prayer, should appoint delegates to attend the stated meetings of Presbytery, and should approve their own records frequently; all of which acts should be entered upon their minutes. The Clerk of Session should keep an accurate register of officers and members, and of the marriages, baptisms, dismissals and deaths of members. Sessions should annually revise their membership roll and advise absent members to take letters of transfer. (See Book of Discipline Chap. XLIX.)

X. LICENTIATES AND CANDIDATES.

1. Licentiates and candidates for the ministry, when received from other Presbyteries, may, at the discretion of Presbytery, be examined as to their christian experience and motives in seeking the ministry, and also as to their studies and acquirements. When coming from another denomination, they shall answer the questions proposed in the Form of Government, chapter xiv.

2. Candidates, when taken under the care of Presbytery, should be introduced by their pastor or by the Committee on Education. They shall be under the care of that committee, whose duty it is to advise and assist them in their preparation for the ministry.

3. Licentiates should report themselves annually, before the spring meeting, to the Committee on Education; nor should they lay aside their studies and labors without the consent of Presbytery.

XI. COMMISSIONERS.

The nomination of delegates to Presbyterial General Assembly shall be made the last order of the first morning session at the Stated Meeting of Presbytery immediately preceding the Assembly's meetings. During the recess the Clerk shall post in the church the names of candidates, and the list of commissioners who have served for the last seven years. The election of the delegates shall take place early in the afternoon session of the same day. Commissioners shall report to Presbytery at the next stated meeting.

XII. RULES OF ORDER.

The Rules of Judicatories recommended by the General Assembly shall govern the proceedings of Presbytery, unless otherwise determined.

XIII. AMENDMENTS.

Any of these rules may be temporarily suspended by a two-thirds vote of the members present at any regular meeting. They may be permanently altered by such a vote, Provided that the motion to amend has lain over from one meeting of Presbytery to the next Stated Meeting.

THE PRESBYTERY IN THE PAST.

1. HISTORICAL.

INTRODUCTORY.

In the fall of 1806, the first Presbyterian Church in Indiana was organized. It is located three miles north-east of Vincennes; is called "Indiana Church," and is still prosperous. Governor William Henry Harrison and wife were among its charter members.

In October, 1823,—three months after the organization of the First Presbyterian Church, Indianapolis, the Synod of Kentucky constituted Salem Presbytery. Its first meeting was held in Salem, Washington County, April 1, 1824. Its boundaries, at first, were almost coterminous with the State, but in the year following, were so extended as to include a large part of Illinois. In October, 1825, its Indiana territory was divided, and two new presbyteries constituted, viz: Madison, in the eastern, and Wabash in the western part of the State. These three presbyteries, together with the Presbytery of Missouri, were in 1826, constituted "The Synod of Indiana."

By an act of Indiana Synod, in session at Shoal Creek Church, Pocahontas (now Bond) County, Illinois,—some 60 miles north-east of St. Louis,—adopted October 15, 1829, permission was given for the formation of a new presbytery. The record, in part, is as follows:

"Resolved, 1. That the Wabash Presbytery be divided, and a new Presbytery be formed, to be called "Crawfordsville Presbytery," and that the north line of Vigo, Clay, Owen and Monroe Counties be the dividing line between the two Presbyteries, leaving the congregations south of said line, and the Rev. Messrs. Isaac Reed, Bayard R. Hall, John V. Bovell and Samuel A. Alexander, in the Wabash Presbytery; and the Revs. Samuel Baldrige, John R. Moreland, Samuel

H. McNutt, George Bush, James Crawford, Jeremiah Hill, James Thomson and John S. Thomson to constitute the new Presbytery of Crawfordsville."

"2. That the Presbytery of Crawfordsville hold its first meeting at Delphi on Wednesday, 25th of November next, at 10 o'clock a. m., and be opened with a sermon by Rev. John R. Moreland, and in case of his absence, by the Senior minister present."

THE CRAWFORDSVILLE PRESBYTERY.

I. "Agreeable to the foregoing order of Synod, Presbytery was to have met at Delphi, but owing to the extraordinary fall of rain, the streams were so swollen as to be impassable." In an orderly manner, therefore, the time and place of meeting were changed.

The first meeting was held at Indianapolis March 25, 1830, and was opened with a sermon by Rev. William Sickles, from Heb. VI : 11.

Present—Revs. S. Baldrige, J. R. Moreland, S. H. McNutt, J. Crawford, J. Thomson and J. S. Thomson, with Elders Isaac Coe, Henry Anderson, Hiram Bacon, Curtis Mallory, Geo. King and Cornelius Smock. Rev. James A. Carnahan, then supplying the church at Lafayette, also took part in the organization, but not having his letter of transfer, was not formally enrolled until the meeting of Presbytery at Coal Creek, Sept. 30, 1830. Rev. S. H. McNutt was chosen Moderator, and Rev. James Thomson, Stated Clerk.

Presbytery continued in session from 11 a. m. Thursday, March 25th, till Monday afternoon. It transacted a large amount of business. It thoroughly reviewed its own field and appointed the following supplies: Revs. Moreland and J. Thomson "to labor together" in Putnum, Hendricks, Hamilton and Madison Counties; Revs. McNutt and Baldrige in Parke and Vermillion Counties; Revs. Crawford and "Post, if he can be obtained," in Carroll and Cass Counties; Revs. Carnahan and J. S. Thomson in Delphi "one or two days;" Rev. Jas. Thomson "one Sabbath in Franklin," Johnson County; and three ministers were appointed to supply the Commissioner's pulpit one Sabbath each. The special field of each minister was as follows: John R. Moreland, Indianapolis; James Thomson, Crawfordsville; Jeremiah Hill, Greenfield (now Greenwood); James Crawford, Coal Creek, Fountain County, and James A. Carnahan at Lafayette. Thus, this little band of Presbyterian ministers, now organized into the Crawfordsville Presbytery, valiantly attempted to shepherd the pioneer Presbyterians scattered over nearly one-third of the great State of Indiana.

Presbytery had under its care thirteen churches, viz:—Shiloh, in Parke County, about four miles north-east of Rockville, organized Dec. 17, 1822; Indianapolis First, July 5, 1823; Crawfordsville, June 20, 1824; Franklin, Nov. 30, 1824; Greenwood, Dec. 31, 1825; Coal Creek, of which Newtown is the successor, Dec. 3, 1827; Waveland, May 18, 1828; Delphi, May 23, 1828; Lafayette First, May 26, 1828; Eugene, 1828; Poplar Springs, near Bainbridge, August 16, 1829; also Noblesville and Deer Creek Churches. Total communicants, 585.

II. At the meeting of Synod October, 1830, five ministers from Crawfordsville Presbytery, and two ministers from Madison Presbytery were appointed to constitute the Presbytery of Indianapolis; and the west line of the Counties of Johnson, Marion and "Hamilton carried north," was made the dividing line between the two presbyteries. The Statistical Report of May, 1831, shows that Crawfordsville Presbytery had on its roll, seven ministers, and fourteen churches with 528 communicants.

III. October 9, 1835, Presbytery adopted resolutions, and prepared a petition, praying Synod to set off "the territory lying north of the Counties of Warren, Montgomery and Boone," and the churches contained therein, with their ministers, Revs. J. A. Carnahan, M. M. Post, L. G. Bell and M. Hummer, into a new Presbytery, to be called the Presbytery of Logansport. This was granted by Synod October 17, 1835.

The Statistical Report of Crawfordsville Presbytery for 1837 shows that it had on its roll fourteen ministers, and nineteen churches having 775 communicants. No report was made for 1838. Separate reports are given of the O. S. and N. S. Presbyteries from 1839 to 1870, the Epoch of Division. With 1870 began the Reunion Era.

IV. The "Enabling Act adopted by the Synod of Indiana North, June 29, 1870, is as follows:

"The Presbytery of Crawfordsville shall include all the ministers and churches located in the following counties, and shall succeed to, and be vested with all the rights, franchises and privileges hertofore known as Crawfordsville Presbytery (O. S.), and Crawfordsville Presbytery (N. S.), to-wit:—The Counties of Benton, Tippecanoe, Carroll, Warren, Fountain, Clinton, Vermillion, Parke, Montgomery and Boone; and the Rev. William Y. Allen is hereby appointed to convene said Presbytery, and to preside at the first meeting thereof, until a Moderator shall be duly chosen; and is to convene said Presbytery in this church on the adjournment of Synod this day."

In accordance with the above action, the Reunited Presbytery met in the First Presbyterian Church, Logansport, Ind., June 29, 1870. Rev. W. Y. Allen called the body to order, and opened the meeting with prayer. Rev. John M. Bishop was chosen temporary clerk. The roll was made out as follows: Ministers, 25; Elders, 9; viz:

Ministers.—James H. Johnson, James A. Carnahan, Caleb Mills, William Y. Allen, Robert F. Caldwell, Daniel Rice, John M. Bishop, John Mitchell, John Hawkes, Samuel S. Thomson, John A. Campbell, Edward Barr, Samuel B. King, Amos Jones, William P. Koutz, Joseph W. Torrence, George Morrison, John Safford, James T. Patterson, William Wilmer, George G. Mitchell, Luther Temple, Henry C. Thomson, Henry L. Dickerson, and Ruben F. Patterson.

Elders and Churches represented.—J. H. Benefield, Crawfordsville First; Alexander Thomson, Crawfordsville Center; George Gilliford, Delphi First; Noah Cory, Delphi Second; C. G. Thomson, Lafayette Second; J. H. Brown, Williamsport; Jacob Thompson, Darlington; James Hague, Thortown, and Newton Murphy, Oxford.

Rev. Daniel Rice, D.D., was elected Moderator, and Rev. Edward Barr, Stated Clerk and Treasurer.

The spirit of reunion was manifestly present, as resolutions were adopted favoring the union of the First and Second Churches of Thortown, the First and Second Churches of Delphi, and "the two Bethel Churches." Presbytery adjourned to meet in Crawfordsville, at 7 p. m. October 4, 1870.

The Statistical Report of May 1, 1871, shows that the reunited Presbytery had on its roll 36 ministers, 2 licentiates, 10 candidates, and 48 churches, 8 of which have since been disbanded, or united with others. Communicants, 3,843; S. S. Membership, 3,571; Funds contributed—Home Missions, $693; Foreign Missions, $591; Education, $1,086; Publication, $115; Church Erection, $228; Relief Fund, $192; Freedmen, $238; General Assembly, $433; Miscellaneous, $1,688, and Congregational, $37,176.

V. The Statistical Report of May, 1900, is as follows: Ministers, 45; Licentiates, 3; Candidates, 10; Churches, 55; Elders, 239; Deacons, 137; added on examination, 390; added on certificate, 205; whole number of communicants, 6,852; adults baptized, 237; infants baptized, 65; S. APPENDIX.

NOTE.—At an adjourned meeting of the Presbytery, held May 15, "The Stated Clerk was instructed to defer the printing of the Standing Rules until after the Stated Fall Meeting." Previous to the Fall Meeting the Manual was prepared and was in the hands of the printer; part of it was printed and the type distributed, hence the "Roll of Ministers," "Churches and Sessions," and "Standing Committees" appear as in May, 1900.

On September 11th, Rev. Hugh T. Gary was elected Moderator. On October 9th, Rev. F. G. Cadwell was elected Chairman of Foreign Missions in place of Rev. D. E. Williamson, dismissed to Monroe Presbytery. On the same date, Elder D. F. McClure resigned the office of Treasurer of Home Missions; also from membership on the Home Mission Committee. Elder W. W. Alder, of Lafayette, was elected in his place.

I. HOME MISSION RULES.

Adopted in Presbytery, April 11th, 1890, for the direction of the Home Mission Committee and of churches receiving Home Mission aid.

1. Churches requiring aid for the support of their minister should make application to the Home Mission Committee in advance of the term for which aid is asked. The committee is not expected to make or recommend grants of aid for terms that have partly expired. The committee is expected to meet in the church in which a stated meeting of Presbytery is held on the half day before each meeting.

2. The following conditions shall ordinarily be required of churches making application for aid. The applicants shall show (a) that they are intelligently and sincerely endeavoring to secure for their pastor the largest amount possible from the field;

(b) That they pay annually the Presbyterian assessment and the Home Mission apportionment, and that they contribute, if possible, to the causes represented by our Church Boards; and

(c) That they have honorably discharged the obligations of the church toward their minister.

3. It shall be the aim of the churches and of the committee to reduce the amount of aid each year, that the churches may attain self-support as soon as possible.

4. Grants and recommendations of aid shall be made by the committee only upon an affirmative vote of a majority of the members of the committee.

5. Payments shall be due at the end of each quarter, provided that the church or group has paid its proportion of the pastor's salary for the quarter; and that the minister has presented his written quarterly report to the committee. All payments of money by the committee shall be made by its treasurer upon an order drawn by the chairman and signed by the secretary or other authorized member of the committee.

6. The Home Mission Committee shall prepare application blanks to be issued by the proper officers of the churches applying for aid, requiring the necessary information on the basis of which the application may be considered. These blanks will be approved by Presbytery and may not be altered without its consent.

Rev. John P. Hale, D. D., Lafayette, Ind., is chairman of the Home Mission Committee. To him, all letters of inquiry on Home Missions, should be addressed.

2. Record the full date—day, month and year, and the place of each meeting.
3. Record the names of the Moderator and elders present.

7. Note the administration of the Lord's Supper, and of Baptism; also all changes of Ministers; all ordinations and installations of Ministers, Elders and Deacons.

12. Be sure to send the Sessional Record Book to Presbytery at its Stated Spring Meeting.

II. CHURCH REGISTER.

2. In recording the names of new members, state the fact of examination or of letters, and in each case state the full name, and if a wife or widow, the christian name of the husband, also.

3. At least once in two years carefully look over the roll of members, noting absentees, and try to have those who have permanently moved away take letters of dismission to the Church near their new residence. The names of those who cannot be found are to be enrolled on 5 list separate from the regular church roll. (See revised Book of Discipline, chapter vii, sections 48, 49, 50 and 52, to which special attention is directed).

SUPPLEMENTARY.

1. If at all practicable Sessions should have stated meetings, e. g., once each month, at which meetings a regular order of docket of business should be followed, embracing all the usual departments of the Session's work.

2. Sessions are strongly advised to appoint committees from among their own number on the several departments of their administrative work, e. g., on Sabbath Schools, Prayer Meetings, Benevolence, etc. It shall be the duty of the committees to keep the Session informed of all matters in their several departments demanding attention.

5. ANNUAL COLLECTIONS.

For the Churches which have not yet adopted the scheme of weekly offerings set forth in the Directory for Worship, chapter vi, it is recommended that the first Lord's Day of the following months be set apart for offerings to the benevolent work of the Church.

The annual apportionment made by Crawfordsville Presbytery for Home Mission purposes is 35 cents per member. This is to be sent in March, or earlier if convenient, to the Home Mission Treasurer of Presbytery, Mr. W. W. Alder, Lafayette, Ind.

On the Collection for the Relief of Disabled Ministers, and the Widows of Deceased Ministers, the Synod of Indiana on October 10, 1900, adopted the following resolutions:

1. That the pastors be required to deliver a special sermon or an address to their congregations at least once a year, setting forth the work and needs of the Board of Relief.

2. That churches be required to take an annual collection for this Board, which contribution shall be equal to at least the one-hundredth part of the minister's salary. The money shall be sent direct to the Board.

3. That the Chairman of the Presbyterian Standing Committees on Ministerial Relief shall correspond with the sessions in their respective Presbyteries, and inform them of the amount which they are required to contribute to this cause. The list of the contributions shall be read in open Presbytery at its stated Spring meeting.

4. That the Board of Relief be requested to print, in alphabetical order, a list of all churches in our Presbyteries, showing not only the contributing churches, with the amounts contributed, but also the names of the non-contributing churches.

5. That it is the sense of the Synod of Indiana that any minister in charge of a church within our bounds, who does not give his people an opportunity to contribute to the Board of Ministerial Relief, is remiss in his duty to Christ and the Church.
